

1st New Millennium stamp.

A special commemorative stamp was designed to mark the year 2000, the new millennium, essentially by enlarging the Machin head used on the standard definitive series. This resulted in part of the Queen's shoulder being omitted and the lower portion of the design 'running off' the bottom of the stamp. The new Olive-brown colour used for the portrait and value contrasts well against the pure white background. The stamp went on sale on the 6th January 2000 in sheets of 200 and booklets of 10, and remained on sale until the end of the year.

Note!

Four of the dies listed above are 'Personal' dies, C0020.01M, D1543.01, P4145.01m and Des0295.01, the rest were used by commercial organisations and public bodies.

At the start of 2000 there would only have been about 100 commercial Perfin Dies still in active use.
